THE PROJECT - GOALS

Bring Marvel to Kids

Making Games for Kids

TARGET AUDIENCE

Boys: Ages 6 to 12

1st to 6th Grade

What are they Playing?

Pokemon - collection

Handheld Games

LEGO Star Wars

IP based co-operative combat

Console Games

Club Penguin

Online PC virtual worlds

Online PC Games

Secondary Target Audience

- Parents
- Crazy Fans

~~CANDY LAND~~

How Did We Do?

- 10 out of 4 (really)

- GOOD - Continuous Focus and Usability Testing throughout pre-production and production
 - Every month we had kids come in and play
- BAD – Post Launch we lost this discipline until we got to Korea.

Easy for Kids, Fun for Grown Ups

GAME DESIGN

Be the Marvel Hero

Infuse Play Into Everything

Core Feature – Game World

Core Features – Combat

- Team up to face off against iconic Marvel villains

Core Feature – Headquarters

Core Feature – Card Game

RANGE OF PLAY STYLES

They want to succeed!

They can take failure very personally...

Impossible to Fail

MOTTO! - Let the Wookiee Win

- If it's too easy for you, it's still too hard

Easily lost without strong direction

Kids Love Repetition

Directing Kids to the Fun

Directing Kids to the Fun

Short Play Sessions

Rapid Level Progression

MOTTO! - What Happens When You Push the Damn Button?

- 10,000 hour MMO is built one click at a time...
- Dagekikan

Monetization Design

Hybrid Model

Subscription

- Monthly Gold
- Earn Gold Through Play
- Exclusive Characters
- Sneak Peeks

Turns out there are people who hit this.

MTX

- Just buy some gold
- No item sales

How Did We Do?

- GOOD – Game is Monetizing. Hurray!
- GOOD – Age Demographic matches our guess
- BAD – Content is burning fast!
- BAD – Did not finish MTX by launch
- BAD – Unfinished Directed Play
- INTERESTING – Got the crazy fans who became our $500 customers. Vocal minority.

Fast to Market – Buy Not Build

TECHNOLOGY

Unity VS Lightspeed

Unity: 51

Lightspeed: 49

Picked Unity and had a game play demo up in 2 weeks.

Every game feature demoable in 6 weeks

Chose our benefits and problems

Demo

Unity Pros and Cons

Pros

- Awesome Tools
- Web Player
- Reasonable Price
- Future – iOS, Android, more

Cons

- UI
- Asset Server
- Waiting for Updates

Invisible Matchmaking

No Sharding
Friend List Focused

Turning Point

Web Embedded Only

Vs

Standalone

- Unity Cache
- Full Screen
- Video Options

Platform & Web

- LOT Harder Than We Thought
- The Website IS a Part of the Game
- Integration with PlaySpan

How did we do?

- GOOD - Decision to go with Unity
- GOOD - Web ONLY, no standalone
- BAD – Underestimated Platform and Web
- BAD – Sub Only At Launch
- BAD – UI in Unity is very difficult
- BAD – Downtime for team managing 16GB of Data in Unity Asset Server

Most Important First 5 Seconds

ART CHOICES

How Did We Do?

- GOOD – Beautiful game, awesome animations, happy customers
- GOOD – Marvel Team and Fans very happy with the look
- GOOD – Game works fine on low end machines
- BAD – Burned time on art driven features that ended up only for the highest end machines

AGILE PRODUCTION

Discipline of Scrum

- 2 Week Sprints
- Epics for the Quarter
- 50 Sprints to Launch
- Small teams
- Take the time for the overhead
 - Planning

MOTTO! - Fail Fast

- Failing is fine but please have the courtesy to do it quickly

Rebooting a Sprint

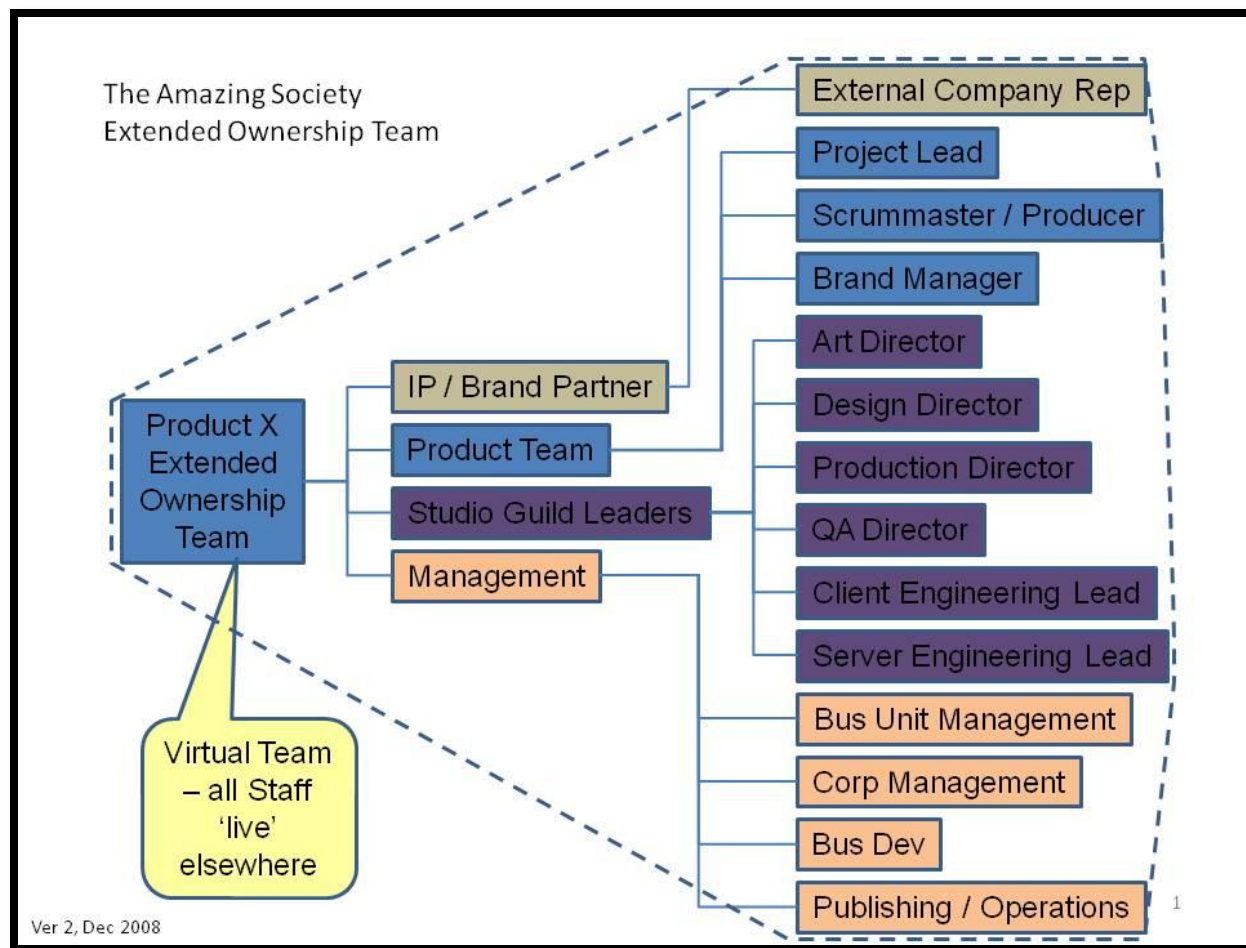

- Very painful
- Only happened a handful of times
- Major pivoting of resources to deal with “catastrophes”
- Team decides this!

MOTTO! - I'm Not Good Enough For Me

- Everybody is a movie director
- Everybody is a composer
- Everybody is an architect
- Everybody is a game designer

know your-

Extended Product Owner Team

MOTTO! – Ship The MVP then Iterate

- Minimum
- Viable
- Product

Get something out and then iterate

Launch

MOTTO! - We Ship We Win

- Turns out it takes a bit of time.
- Not a Field of Dreams
- Must have Marketing & Distribution

The Game Today

How Did We Do?

- GOOD - We got the game live!
- GOOD – Hit the media beats for all major summer movies and new Spider-Man
- GOOD – Kids know names of even obscure Marvel heroes after playing the game
- BAD – We lost the discipline of Priority Poker post launch in exchange for Rapid Response
- BAD – Rush to hit Movie times made us release critical bugs
