

Monday, March 26, 12

2

Basically a linear progression of how we got to where we are.

Monday, March 26, 12

3

No more walls of text

Why it's important...

...then this....

...which leads to this...

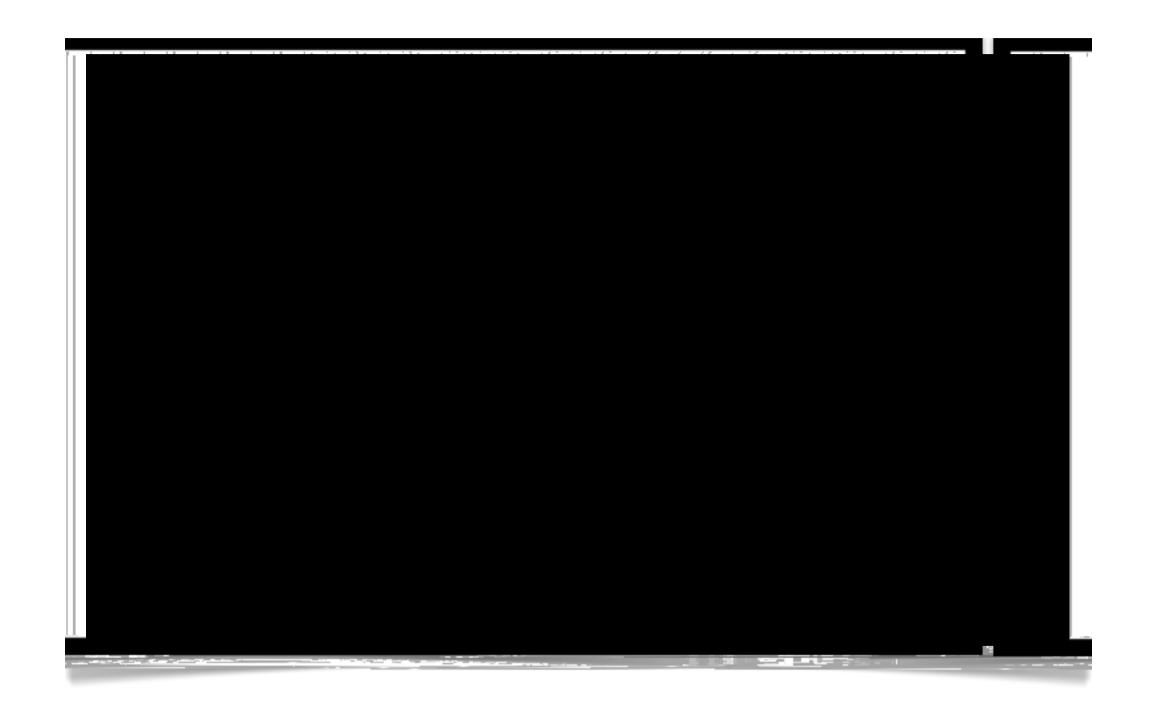

4M DKK = around 800,000 USD. Which is needed because, well....

...which pays for this!

the problem with baby elephants is that they have this the tendency to grow, which means they need new prosthetic limbs. Which need paying for.

...which pays for this!

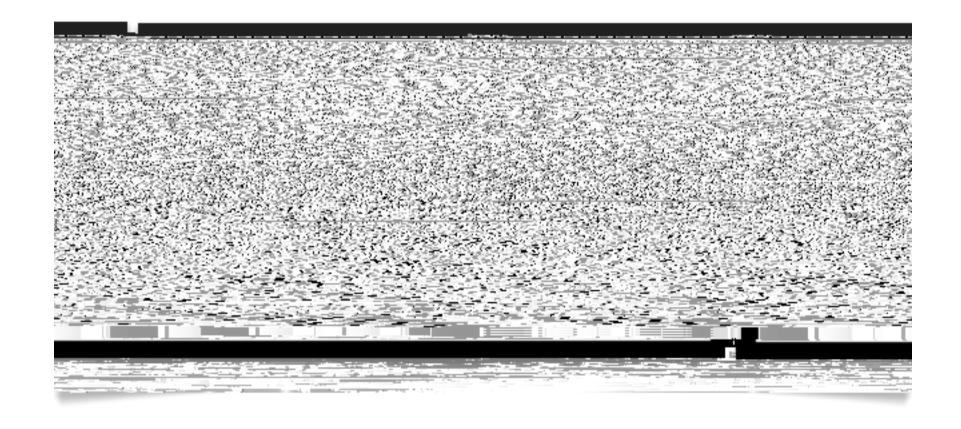

Maps suck!

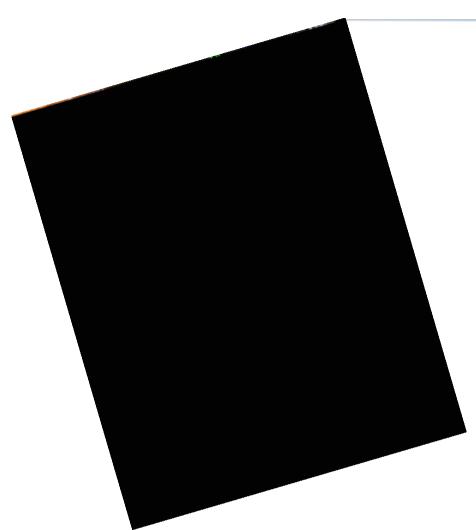

Monday, March 26, 12

Which was an exceptionally good idea, because this is how everyone was forced to navigate around Copenhagen to find all the elephants. And on the whole....maps suck. They're inaccurate, can't be easily updated, and the only way to zoom them is, well....move them backwards and forwards.

Proof-of-concept

Gamification or Appification?

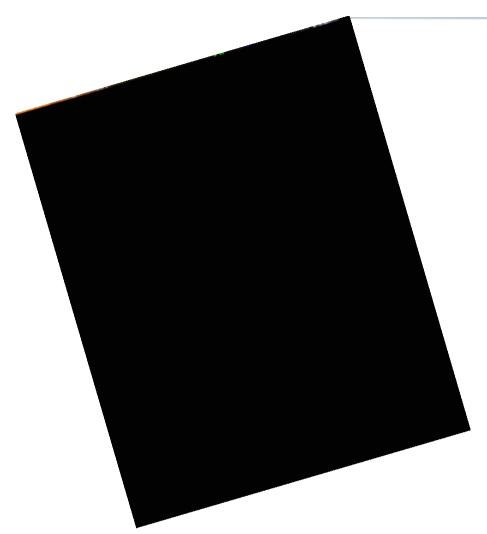

Gamification or Appification?

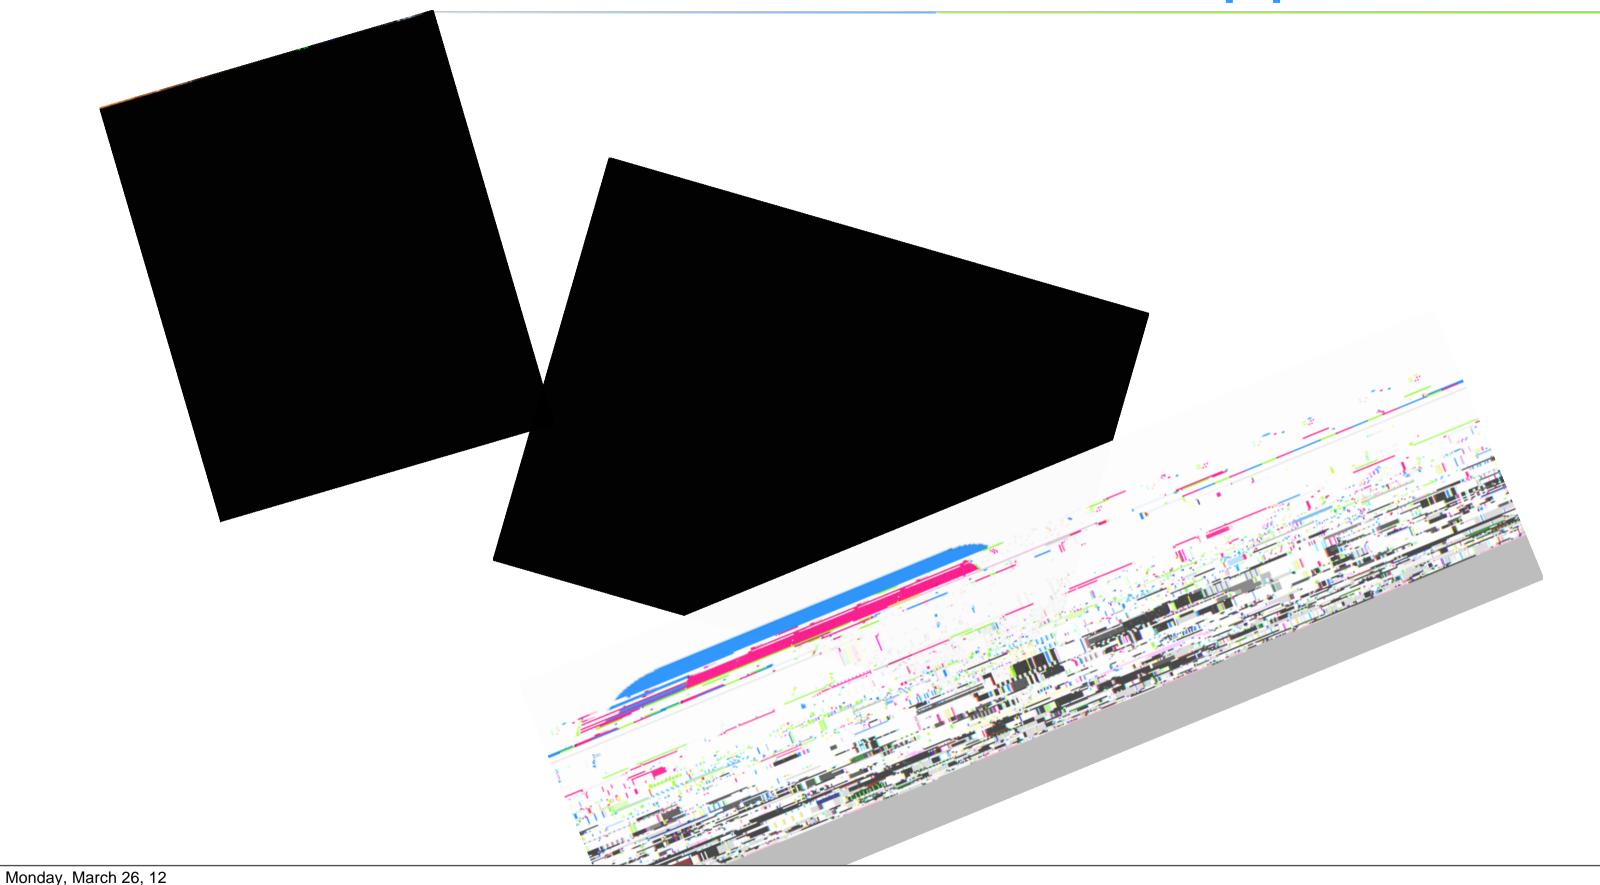

Monday, March 26, 12

So Joseph Server & CDC, the are twee a whole Correification trook. And Correification kinds got a had non-Dut when your Gamification or Appification?

Gamification or Appification?

So last year here at GDC, there was a whole Gamification track. And Gamification kinda got a bad rep. But when you go to commercialize (or productize) something like this, you need to consider the balance betw() -0.4-0.1 (i) (n) 0.4 (

Elephant Safari: Milan

Elephant Safari: Milan

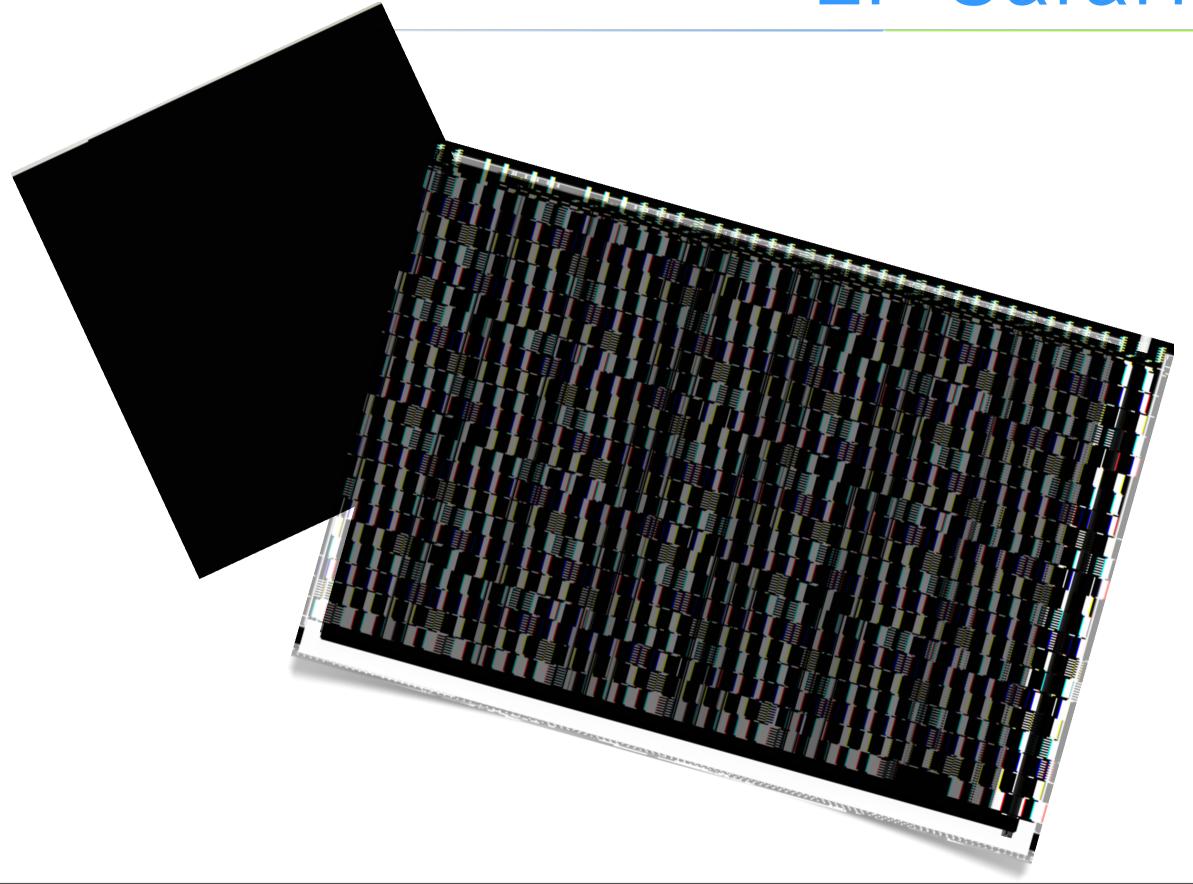

Monday, March 26, 12

Soft-launched in the middle of the parade. 300 installs. from 2 facebook postings.

Overwhelmingly iPhone. We had continuous playtimes in excess of 3 hours, sometimes up to 6. We learned a lot...the paths didn't really work as we wanted, and ppl wanted more backstory of each elephant and artist.

EP Safari: Singapore

EP Safari: Singapore

EP Safari: Singapore

Fortunately we'd been given a Nordic Game grant for a project called Parallel Parks - a white-labelled gamification of

