

All Choice No Consequence: Efficiently Branch Your Game's Narrative

Cass Phillipps

Episode

Interactive Narrative Is In!

- Interactive Story Games – DUH!
 - Episode (Mean Girls: Senior Year, Demi: Path To Fame)
 - TellTale (The Walking Dead, Game of Thrones)
 - Inkle (80 Days, Sorcery)

Episode

telltalegames

inkle

Interactive Narrative Is In!

- › Interactive Story Games – DUH!
- › Adventure Games – Well Sure!
 - › Broken Age
 - › Kentucky Route Zero

Interactive Narrative Is In!

- › Interactive Story Games – DUH!
- › Adventure Games – Well Sure!
- › Even Triple-A titles!
 - › Fallout 4
 - › Mass Effect
 - › Shadow of Mordor

Interactive Narrative Is In!

- Interactive Story Games – DUH!
- Adventure Games – Well Sure!
- Even Triple-A titles!

But is it worth it?

Why Are You Sitting Here?

7

- Having choices matters
- Having choices that FEEL impactful matters
- Having choices that ARE impactful is irrelevant
 - It wastes valuable time and money

Design Choices Smartly

Why Am I Standing Here?

- Creative Manager for Episode Interactive
 - Platform of interactive animated stories
 - +13,000 stories published by our players
 - 3.5 million weekly active users
 - 1.5 billion episodes played
 - Regularly a top 20 grossing iOS game

A Choice Example

What would you like to hear first?

Learn more about Episode, me & our data.

Learn more about branching execution.

Avoid engaging as much as possible.

More About Episode & Me

10

- Design proprietary tools to tell mobile stories.
 - Library of art
 - Easy-to-learn scripting language.
- Creative Lead on Demi Lovato: Path To Fame
 - Tested various branches & choices
 - Watched how choice effected retention
 - Tested hypotheses on choice type, amount, and length on various stories.

% of People Who Replay

5x
Average

No
Branching

Massive
Branching

Average

Tangled Love

Super Secret Cedar Hill

Finding Mr. Wright

The Ember Effect

Reunion

Retention Based On Choice Count

4 Facets of Branching Stories:

Which is most important to your process?

Choices

Dialogue

Story

Branches

1. Story

Start With the Story

- It must be impactful and meaningful
 - Don't distract yourself with choices
 - Slows down the story process and can hurt the end result

- Create a strong outline
 - Loose enough to change
 - Tight enough so you know beats works

2. Branches

% of People Who Replay

5x
Average

No
Branching

Massive
Branching

Average

Tangled Love

Super Secret Cedar Hill

Finding Mr. Wright

The Ember Effect

Reunion

Find Your Major Branches

- What's a major branch?
 - Changes in scenes or characters due to the choice
 - Unique ways to reach the same goal
 - Strong enough to be referenced periodically
 - NOT completely disconnected story lines (not worth it)

How To Find Branches

- Story room disagreements

How To Find Branches

➤ Story room disagreements

➤ Reorder scenes

➤ Can I learn things at different times?

How To Find Branches

- Story room disagreements
- Reorder scenes
- Work backwards from major conflicts or goals
 - This is why you should keep the first outline loose

How To Find Branches

➤ Story room disagreements

➤ Reorder scenes

➤ Work backwards from major conflicts or goals

Find 1 Branch ASAP, then one every ~20-30 mins of play.

How To Find Branches

➤ Story room disagreements

➤ Reorder scenes

➤ Work backwards from major conflicts or goals

Find 1 Branch ASAP, then one every ~20-30 min of play.

Do NOT get hung up on small choices at this stage, you'll get too lost in the weeds

3. Dialogue

Dialogue Makes A Difference

- › Unique character voices
- › Succinct & clear purpose
 - › Attention spans are short
- › Clear consequences & goals
 - › Be a bit on-the-nose
- › Discuss with design team
 - › Triple AAA FPS? Adventure Game? Interactive Fiction?

5. Choices

Retention Based On Choice Count

Where To Find Choices

1. Character reactions
 - NPC Questions are a GREAT source of these!

Where To Find Choices

1. Character reactions
2. Character-defining traits
 - › Outfits, avatars, attitudes.

Where To Find Choices

1. Character reactions

2. Character-defining traits

3. Unavoidable Consequences

➤ Bury it in choices.

Make Choices Matter

1. Character Scores and Comparisons
 - › Create code to assign characters point values
 - › Be able to quickly reference it.
 - › But only edit a single line of early dialogue

Make Choices Matter

1. Character Scores and Comparisons
2. Immediate Reactions
 - Unique responses from the environment
 - But just 1-3 lines

Make Choices Matter

1. Character Scores and Comparisons
2. Immediate Reactions
3. Clear Consequences Up Front
 - Make it clear what they may gain & lose
 - Split allegiances, multiple events, or conflicting goals

Make Choices Matter

1. Character Scores and Comparisons
2. Immediate Reactions
3. Clear Consequences Up Front
4. Every Option Has Equal Weight
 - Make sure people pick each option equally
 - Always have 3+ options
 - Personally, I avoid RIGHT vs. WRONG
 - Feels less fun

A Common Choice

- Your crush is talking with your revengeful ex-boyfriend!
Want to eavesdrop?
 - Yes
 - No

A Common Choice

- Your crush is talking with your revengeful ex-boyfriend!
Want to eavesdrop?
 - Yes
 - No

~85% of people pick “Yes”

Give The Options Equal Weight:

- Your crush is talking to your revengeful ex-boyfriend!
Do you...
 - Text your ex asking for details!
 - Butt into their conversation!
 - Cause a scene down the hall!

Establish Clear Consequences:

- Your crush is talking to your revengeful ex-boyfriend, but class is about to start! If you're late to English once more, she'll flunk you! What do you do?
 - Eavesdrop
 - Hurry to class

Bad Choices

1. False choices

- › I make a choice and the player-character immediately negates it

Bad Choices

1. False choices
2. Misleading choices
 - › I make a choice but the story interprets a different meaning than what was presented

Bad Choices

1. False choices
2. Misleading choices
3. Vague choices
 - When the player isn't sure what an option means

- › Don't add branches until you have a great story
- › Don't add choices until you have a great script
- › Every choice has clear meaning, goals, and consequences
- › Write immediate reactions
- › Never negate player agency

Questions?

Work With Me - <http://bit.ly/EpisodeJobs>
Contact Me - cass@pocketgems.com

Episode