Interest becomes the driving force behind users' behaviors

* Main social media users refer to those representative users on Weixin, Sina microblog

Users' behaviors are based on 3 action dimensions of interest

Users get needed info, but are more enthusiastic about giving their opinions

1st dimension

Behaviors based on this dimension are mainly reading and browsing

Groups interested in certain issues contribute their cognitive surplus and create contents; they are self-generating

Animal Forest wikion stories of Japanese game fans

How should we run.....

Products and operations. Users' contribution can be fun.

Use the coolest way to turn the contribution into a "divine tool"

Minimize costs, and maximize expressive force

Joyme wiki: Turn contents into a tool, which is regarded by fans as a "divine tool"

Traditional mobile game media: too much text; poor user experience

If you know more than what I do

Bring it on!

Next.....We will apply our successful operations experience in games to anime and manga, bringing the fans rich contents and exciting experience. And more.....

Currently, online contents related to anime and manga are mostly (over 90%) series (manga or video clips). The needs of the fans to share, communicate, re-create and derive are far from being met.
